

Abstract of the Disclosure

5

A method of controlling use of copying software on a computer is disclosed. The computer includes a hardware ID ("HWID"). A hard-coded identifier is accessed from within the copying software when the copying software is launched, and the HWID of the computer is also accessed. The HWID is compared with the hard-coded identifier, and a copying function proceeds only if the HWID and the hard-coded identifier match.

10

L:\ISHM\IOM\5973\IOM-5973 APPLICATION.DOC

005090" 60548560